The Services

The APEC Secretariat is seeking proposals for the Study on the Application of Global Data Standards (GDS) for Supply Chain Connectivity.

1. Background

With the ever growing economic integration in the Asia-Pacific region, improving supply chain efficiency and strengthening connectivity is one of APEC’s core activities in recent years. In 2010, APEC committed to achieving an APEC-wide target of a 10 percent improvement in supply chain performance by 2015, in terms of reduction of time, cost and uncertainty, taking into consideration individual member economy’s circumstances. In 2013, APEC Ministers recognized the contribution that GDS could make to enhancing supply chain efficiency, and encouraged officials to explore what more could be done to facilitate mutual compatibility amongst data standards frameworks, and the compatibility of economies’ frameworks with the use of GDS*.

In the 2014 Joint Ministerial Statement, Ministers encouraged officials to further advance their work on GDS, including developing pilot projects, conducting a study and establishing a set of policy-based principles for recommendations for future GDS initiatives. In their Declaration, Leaders also encouraged APEC member economies to work with the private sector to promote further cooperation on GDS and their wider use by developing pilot projects.

It is in response to this that the APEC Committee on Trade and Investment (CTI) is embarking on a Study that will track several GDS pilot projects and assess the cost and benefits of using GDS in the supply chains. The outcome from this Study will help APEC to map the way forward for future activities on GDS.

(*) GDS is a concept containing sets of broad range of coding and data sharing systems. Several GDS and coding bodies exist. GDS codes should ideally be issued by non-profit organizations, be open and non-proprietary and issued in accordance with international standards such as ISO 15459 (Automatic identification and data capture techniques – Unique identification). Use of codes can be free or with a fee-based structure based on the use and stakeholders purpose. Once issued, users of GDS codes should be free from particular technologies, charged services and ICT systems. The use of particular service in the pilot is for GDS’ proof of concept purpose and it is not to give a monopolistic power to the provider of the GDS codes or systems using those codes.

2. Objectives of the project

The aims of the Study are to:

a) Track the progress and conduct a proof of concept and further cost-benefit analysis through pilot projects on the application of particular GDS at product level, with a particular aim to enhancing supply chain visibility as related to traceability and expedited product admission (coping with existing customs clearance system and future single window platform). The objectives are to: (i) demonstrate whether and how GDS will enhance supply chain performance and contribute to better compliance; and (ii) identify enablers, challenges and mitigation policies, in addition to (iii) determine if it is cost-effective to adopt GDS in supply chains for relevant stakeholders (e.g. traders, logistic operators and border agencies, etc.); and

b) Propose recommendations on possible future actions to enhance supply chain performance through the application of GDS, taking into account the challenges that member economies may face. This may include policy recommendations to facilitate compatibility among economies’ frameworks with the use of GDS. The objective is to identify the next steps to implement the commitments by Ministers and Leaders on this issue, building upon the existing APEC/ABAC work.
3. Scope of Services

3.1 Description of Services

For this Request for Proposal (RFP), the Study will focus on two (2) products with the following trade routes nominated by APEC member economies:

a) Wine
   • Trade route: Australia → Hong Kong, China
   • Export: Australia (Accolade – supplier, Stevedore of Adelaide – forwarder)
   • Import: Hong Kong, China (Telford – importer/consignee, Yusen Logistics – logistics service provider)

b) Boxed meat
   • Trade route: Australia → USA
   • Export: Australia (Teys Australia – supplier, Chalmers Industries – road transport, Hamburg Sud – stevedoring/shipping, Port of Brisbane – port facilities, Australian Customs, Australian Department of Agriculture)
   • Import: USA (Teys USA – importer/consignee, John Steere Broker, Philadelphia, US Customs, US Food Safety & Inspection Service)

The Study will comprise three main sections:

a) Background: This will cover the definition and the scope of GDS by illustrating current implementation of certain GDS by APEC member economies used for transboundary movement of goods and addressing the related chokepoints identified under APEC's Supply Chain Connectivity Framework Action Plan (SCFAP) (e.g. chokepoint 7 on variations in cross-border standards and regulations for movements of goods, services and business travellers, etc.). It is also to set out the previous APEC/ABAC work on GDS, relevant Ministerial and Leaders’ directions and other relevant information (e.g. international treaties/agreements on secure trade for tracking the movement of goods).

b) Tracking: For each trade route nominated by the participating member economies (as per above) and based on a set of indicators and benchmarks, to measure the benefits of using GDS on supply chain performance (e.g. reducing the time, cost, uncertainty, inventory level and errors; addressing chokepoints; enhancing efficiency, integrity, quality, visibility and innovation). A cost-benefit analysis will be applied to key stakeholders in which the benefits will be measured by the position before each pilot project commences and after it ends based on the pre-determined indicators and benchmarks, and translated into numerical and monetary values when applicable. Participating member economies and their relevant stakeholders (including suppliers/exporters, logistics service providers, consignees/importers and government agencies if involved) along the trade routes are required to provide relevant information, such as the actual time and costs incurred and benefits realized, to facilitate the assessment. It may be done in the form of a questionnaire to be completed by participating member economies and relevant stakeholders and/or by direct access to the data visibility systems/platforms, if available; and

c) Conclusion: Based on (b), to recommend the next course of actions/appropriate policy options on whether and how APEC member economies could enhance supply chain connectivity through GDS, thereby contributing to broader APEC objectives on connectivity, global value chains, SCFAP and Bogor Goals.

For the background section, it should draw on public domain information and inputs from APEC member economies. In preparing for the tracking section, the consultant will need to consult the participating member economies and relevant stakeholders in each trade route before the pilot project commences and after it ends. Information from existing literatures or secondary sources will also be used whenever necessary.

The specific tasks required for conducting the Study are:

a) To devise the baseline indicators and benchmarks for measuring the supply chain performance.

b) To design the tracking processes before and after the application of GDS to the trade route, including:
   i. methodology of collecting relevant data and information through questionnaire to be completed by stakeholders or access to the data visibility system/platform;
   ii. scope and methodology of cost-benefit analysis; and
iii. reviewing existing operations/processes of stakeholders to incorporate the use of GDS, offer of recommendations on streamlining or improving related processes which are under pilot run to test their effectiveness to meet with various objectives of improving supply chain performance.

3.2 Expected Outputs and Timelines

The Consultant will provide the following deliverables:

a. Inception Report – consists of a detailed and thorough coverage of the methodological approach for the Study (including the ‘specific tasks’ outlined in 3.1 above). This will include the development of survey templates, baseline indicators and benchmarks, cost-benefit analysis framework, and a review of existing operations/processes of stakeholders to incorporate the use of GDS. A tentative outline for the final report should also be included.

b) Progress Report – discusses the progress to date, results of survey, details of the work conducted, highlights, and relevant information or findings.

c) Draft Final Report – contains the results of the full investigation as required by the objectives and tasks of this Study.

d) Final Report – contains the results of the full investigation as required by the objectives and tasks of this Study; incorporates comments, corrections, and recommendations by PSU and other APEC-related reviewers. The Final Report should also include an Executive Summary, as well as a section on Conclusions and Recommendations. Both sections must be written in a non-technical manner and be able to explain in layman terms the Study details and findings.

The timeline for the deliverables is as follows:

If this Contract is terminated, the APEC Secretariat and the Contractor shall negotiate the rights, duties, and obligations of the Parties, including but not limited to compensation to the Contractor and/or the APEC Secretariat. Any compensation to the Contractor must not exceed the total value of the Contract, which is set out in Clause 2.1, “Payment” in Special Conditions.

16.2 Upon receiving a Notice of Termination, the Contractor shall immediately stop work as specified in the notice, except if directed otherwise by the APEC Secretariat.

16.3 Upon receiving a Notice of Termination, the Contractor shall submit a final termination settlement proposal to the APEC Secretariat. The settlement proposal must include a certification from the PSU Project Lead of the actual costs the Contractor has incurred.

16.4 If the Contractor fails to submit the termination settlement proposal within seven (7) days from the date of the Notice of Termination, the APEC Secretariat may in its sole discretion determine the amount, if any, due to the Contractor following the termination.

16.5 Upon termination of the Contract, subject as provided in this clause and except in respect of any accrued rights, neither Party shall be under any further obligation to the other.

23 WAIVER

23.1 A Party’s failure, delay or relaxation in exercising any power or right it has under this Contract does not mean that the Party has given up (i.e. waived) that power or right.

23.2 A Party exercising a power or right does not stop it from:

23.2.1 further exercising that power or right; or

26.3.1 immediately notify the APEC Secretariat in writing of:
   26.3.1.1 the likely delay and how long the Contractor thinks it will last; and
